I found myself participating more that I usually would in an online class as she managed to make the zoom classes as much like in person classes as possible	I feel like I have learned more about this topic than I knew before I took this class and was interested every week to expand my understanding	As a discussion based class, everyone's opinions were welcomed and I felt like I could freely share what I thought	She always provided feedback that was helpful and encouraging	This was one of, if not, my favorite class I took this semester. It was the only one that felt close to being a normal class	Good job, very effective, A+
Participated when needed, trying to further discussion. Often times it was only a few students participating and the rest	Class discussion allowed for further advancement of ideas however, sometimes it felt like class discussions got away from the professor. There were students who didn't seem to understand how debating worked and would interject with	Questions were always welcomed and answered thoroughly.	Reading responses seemed like there were low standards and then for more serious assignments it felt like the bar was set really high. It was confusing to receive A's on reading assignment and then try for an A on other assignments and receive B's or below.	This course presents the student with lots of new knowledge on plays that aren't "typical." Subjects were fun, and class discussion could provide new insight.	Overall effectiveness of the instructor in numerical terms would be 8/10.	No she has great energy and was always very nice.

relying on us to keep the discussion going.	mean comments. In addition, there were a handful of students that the whole class and sometimes it felt like the professor relied upon to keep the class going.
The instructor required detailed and hard work for this course. I participated thoroughly, which helped me in my coursework.	The instructor challenged me intellectual during every class, provided thought-provoking and debatable concepts and ideas, and allowed for a lot of student discussion, which helped my understanding of the course as a whole.	The instructor maintained the course well, despite the circumstances, and seemed to have a wide variety of knowledge on how to handle student questions and different types of student communication for a purely online course.	The instructor provided extremely helpful information regarding the work I had turned in, which helped me develop my future work and testing abilities. She set high standards and strived to have her students meet them. She gave constructive feedback and helpful advice. The instructor also returned graded work sooner (with more detail and instruction) than any of my other professors despite the circumstances of our surroundings, which gave me time to adjust my upcoming work accordingly.	The course is interesting and innovative. The ideas that are talked about are wide-ranging and different from other courses I have taken in the past. I learned a lot of new information, and did not feel as if I was repeating any concepts that have been drilled into my head through multiple courses.	The instructor was effective and timely with all of her teaching ways. She met on time every week and returned work in an extremely timely manner. The instructor frequently engaged her students in thought-provoking conversations, which she monitored and kept on subject, despite the chaotic nature of Zoom calls.	I would like to stress just how important it was to me, as a student, that she graded work that I turned in within minutes of me hitting the submit button. I suffered through work being graded five weeks after it was turned in, but on multiple occasions, I have had the instructor return my graded work twenty minutes after I had submitted it, with detailed and thought-provoking notes that helped me with my future work.

Participated a lot in classes	It was a great learning environment.	Really great with interactions.	Great at giving feedback.	Really fun and great course to take.	A really great teacher.	None.
I found myself participating in this course more than any other in my college career. Dr. Wolfe makes this course engaging by allowing students to go out of their comfort zones in a welcoming environment.	I learned a lot about how actors use their whole body when performing. We explored this idea not only through watching and evaluating professional actors but by practicing these techniques ourselves. This class was artistically challenging and very much thought-provoking. I will never watch a TV show the same!	Dr. Wolfe is a wonderful person who allows all students to be creative and express themselves. She welcomed questions and different viewpoints. She answered questions clearly and concisely.	dr. Wolde gave very constructive feedback to all of her students. My papers were not written in vain because she evaluated and responded to them, unlike many other professors.	Wonderful quality.	Extremely effective.

I did all of the assigned readings and responses in order to be able to participate in the class discussions and it definitely helps the class be very interesting	She has very high expectations but that helped me push myself to think more critically	She was very open to questions and answered them with a lot of information. This class became a little overwhelming at times which I felt was reflected in my work and participation in this class.	The learning environment was okay. I didn't have any problems with the professor more so than I did with the other students. They made me feel like I couldn't speak up in class discussions.	Yes, in class she communicated well with students and through emails as well. Sometimes I felt like assignment requirements/rubrics were a little unclear.	Yes, they were helpful in improving my future work despite assignment handouts being confusing at times.	This course was okay. I think it appeals more to those who enjoy theater which is not a field I'm typically interested in.	She was good. At times I felt like the communication was confusing but you can tell she really enjoyed the material she was teaching which I don't think you can say the same for many other professors.

I have tried to participate in every class I could, though sometimes I would forget.	I was intellectually challenged in every discussion and my instructor broadened my understanding of the subject quite a bit.	My instructor was very clear and effective with communication and she always made it comfortable for students to talk with her/ask questions.	My instructor was very helpful in her responses, set high standards for all of us, and evaluated me in a very constructive way.	I feel as though this course was a very high-quality course.	I loved my instructor and she helped me grow as a constructive and better writer and also helped me get out of my shell a bit. I had a lot of fun reading some of the material for this course, and even the ones I didn't initially enjoy were made better by our in-class discussions.
